

RAHAB AND THE SPIES

At Jericho, God shows mercy. Meet Rahab.

Let's Get Started

Episode Theme: Loving my Neighbor - God Calls His People.

1. Rahab, a Canaanite woman from Jericho, spoke the words in Joshua 2:11. The walls of Jericho were so thick and strong that Rahab's house was inside the walls. And yet, she was afraid. She didn't fit in with the people of Jericho and certainly did not fit in with the Israelites. What would happen to her when God fought for his people? Like Rahab, have you ever felt like an outsider?
2. The Canaanites had their gods and did not believe in the God of the Israelites, yet Rahab had heard the stories of everything that God had done for his people. Because of the stories, she believed that God was real. As you listen to this story, think about the stories that you could tell about the good things God has done.

Memory Verse

When we heard of it, our hearts melted in fear and everyone's courage failed because of you, for the Lord your God is God in heaven above and on the earth below.

Joshua 2:11

After You Listen

God had been working in Rahab's heart before the spies even arrived. Forty years before, God had freed the Israelites from Egypt, parted the Red Sea, and given them miraculous victories over other, seemingly stronger kingdoms. The stories had spread across the wilderness, and Rahab believed that God could do everything he promised. Rahab showed her faith by obeying the spies' instructions to keep her family with her in a house with a red cord outside. God rewarded Rahab for their obedience. When the walls of Jericho miraculously fell, Rahab and her family were safe.

Rahab did not feel worthy to join the people of Israel after the city was destroyed. She was a sinner and was one of Israel's enemies. But God welcomed her, and she became so important to God's story that she is listed as an ancestor of Jesus!
