

FAMILY LOSS, CONFLICT, AND CHANGE- A FOUR WEEK SERIES

August 11, 2022

As parents, we can comfort our children when they experience big changes and even losses in their lives. Friends, family members, pastors and teachers can also be the allies in your children's lives—people who can listen and help them through hard times. Even better, Jesus promises to protect and walk alongside us even in the scariest of times. What an amazing friend we have in Jesus!

Explore these Kids Corner devotions and parent blogs, our four week series about family loss, conflict, and change. This week talk to your family about how God's love never changes and how we can seek his comfort through the people he's placed in our lives.

Week one: God's Love is Already There devotion and Braving the Storm: Helping Children Through the Change of Divorce parent blog.

Week two: Speaking the Truth in Love devotion and Encounters That Heal: Supporting Children Through Divorce and Separation parent blog.

Week three: God is in Control- Not Us devotion and Equipping with Courage and Wisdom: Comforting Children Through Divorce parent blog.

Week four: A Heart for the Hurting devotion and A Heart for the Hurting: Helping Your Child Support Their Friend During Divorce parent blog.

Check out these Liz and Friends Podcast feature stories that follow the theme of helping children support their friend during divorce.

I invite you check out our family eBook God's Got You Covered: Stories and Advice about Divorce. Using biblical teaching, Kids Corner episodes, and activities, this eBook helps kids and parents talk about family loss, conflict, and change.

I'll end with a prayer that you can find at the end of the "God's Love is Already There" devotion:

Lord, when change makes it feel like my life is turned upside down, let me remember that your love never changes, and that your plans are always good. Help me to seek safety through the people that you've placed in my life and through the comfort of your Word. Amen.
